At Canberra Health Services (CHS), we want to create an inclusive learning and teaching culture, which makes CHS a great place to work and supports the delivery of exceptional care.

We will support your learning and teaching goals through innovative and reliable training support and services, underpinned by our organisational values.

Our learning management system is here to guide your orientation, mandatory e-learning, credentialing and special interests — if you want to be a clinical expert in your field, educator or researcher.

Support for learning and teaching development

- Study assistance for external study leading to a qualification. This is done through discretionary access to paid study leave and financial assistance.
- Study assistance, psychological support and structured teaching programs for multiple disciplines.
- Access to honorary academic appointments.
- Access to study leave and medical education expenses fund for senior medical officers.

- Access to Grand Rounds.
- Post graduate and professional development scholarships for allied health, nursing and midwifery.
- Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Enrolled Nursing Scholarships.
- Qualification allowances for further studies in nursing and midwifery.
- Clinical supervision, preceptorship and train the assessor programs to support allied health, nursing, midwifery and medical staff.
- Access to the ACTPS learning and development opportunities.

Research

Research is one of our three strategic priorities and our aim is to create an inclusive research community, which delivers exceptional health care. We are committed to continuously grow our research activities and to support research interested clinicians and clinician researchers by providing access to:

- research mentorship programs, including CHS Mentorship Programme and the Franklin Women's Programme
- Synergy — Nursing & Midwifery Research Centre — ACT Health Directorate
- research education and research support (biostatistics/ethics submissions)
- local research funding
- honorary academic appointments and access to research software
- academic protected time through fellowships and scholarships
- on site and off site pre-clinical facilities.

Acknowledgement of Country

Canberra Health Services acknowledges the Ngunnawal people as traditional custodians of the ACT and recognises any other people or families with connection to the lands of the ACT and region. We acknowledge and respect their continuing culture and contribution to the life of this region.
